RIC ELIAS

Ric Elias is the co-founder and CEO of Red Ventures, a portfolio of digital companies headquartered in Charlotte, North Carolina. With over 3,000 employees in 15 North American offices, the UK, and Brazil, RV’s digital platform spans across many industries, including home services, financial services, healthcare, and education. Through its integrated marketplaces, Red Ventures enables consumers to connect seamlessly with brands and services.

Over the last 8 years, Red Ventures has compounded growth at over 30%. In 2010, General Atlantic made a strategic investment in the company, and in 2015 Silver Lake also joined as a shareholder. Ric has cultivated an award-winning and technology-centric company culture, ranking as one of Charlotte’s “Best Places to Work” for ten years in a row.

A native of Puerto Rico, Ric graduated from Boston College and earned his MBA from Harvard Business School. He co-founded Red Ventures in 2000, months before the dot-com bubble burst. The company weathered the storm; by 2007 it was ranked 4th on the Inc. 500 list. Ric’s leadership style has earned him noteworthy recognition; in 2011, he was named an Ernst & Young National Entrepreneur of the Year, and in 2016 he was inducted into the Carolinas Entrepreneur Hall of Fame.

In 2009, Ric survived Flight 1549, also known as the “Miracle on the Hudson,” an event which changed his life and led to his widely viewed TED Talk “3 Things I Learned While My Plane Crashed.” In 2019, he launched a podcast, “3 Things with Ric Elias,” where he shares conversations and insights with top business leaders, athletes, and remarkable guests.

In addition to being deeply committed to his family and Red Ventures, he is passionate about creating economic mobility opportunities for underserved groups who have the motivation and work ethic to succeed. Ric has founded and funded several growing nonprofit organizations including Road to Hire, an on-the-job tech training platform, Golden Door Scholars (GDS), which creates educational and career opportunities for high-performing undocumented students, and Rebuild Puerto Rico, a nonprofit focused on long-term rebuilding efforts following Hurricane Maria.

Additionally, in 2018 Ric launched Forward787, a $100M social enterprise committed to building digital businesses based in Puerto Rico. The program will train and support hundreds of Puerto Rican professionals, fueling a new economic growth engine on the island.

OUR APPROACH TO SOCIAL IMPACT MIRRORS
OUR APPROACH TO BUSINESS:

We create scalable, sustainable platforms that positively change the trajectory of people’s lives.

WE BELIEVE HARD WORK SHOULD BE MET WITH OPPORTUNITY.

Road to Hire connects underrepresented young adults with onramps to high-earning careers through paid technical training and college access.

PATHWAYS Tech training and professional development in high schools.

FELLOWSHIPS Paid professional training with Charlotte’s top employers.

SCHOLARSHIPS Funding and support for underrepresented high school graduates, including undocumented students.

WE BELIEVE COMPANIES SHOULD BE FORCES OF GOOD.

Road to Hire is powered by Red Ventures, which means our employees play an active role in providing mentorship, skills training, and other support for remarkable students. We’re committed to learning from them, too - to seeing the city of Charlotte through their eyes.
